Roger E. Bütow Joins Team Hydrologix®

Monday, April 8, 2013

Hydrologix® Inc. is a world leading bio-technological company with over 20-years experience in the design and engineering of environmentally and ecologically responsible recycling and treatment solutions for wastewater. We are experts in bio-remediation and bio-fuel extraction.

Today, we're pleased to announce that Roger E. Bütow has joined our team. Roger will serve as an advisor addressing regulatory agency compliance issues for clients. Here are his thoughts about coming aboard Team Hydrologix®

"Beginning in 1998, I became active in the ecological protection movement and also started my own environmental consultant business. Formerly a builder of commercial and residential projects, drawing down my full-time construction career these past 15 years, I then began to build up my land use consultant business. I've been fascinated with water ever since my nature-loving Father took me into the Pacific Ocean surf as a 2-year-old boy in 1948.

I met the Hydrologix® family back around 2000 and was impressed by their creativity plus eco-friendly and progressive, positive, "can do" attitude. I've assisted as an unpaid volunteer and technical advisor along with CEO Dr. Markus Lenger on several non-profit boards over the years since meeting him. I've always admired his scientific approach and refreshing zeal for sound engineering system improvements that benefit both his clients and the environment.

Joining Hydrologix® at this critical juncture in my personal journey is a perfect fit. Undeniable increasing water demands coupled with serious adverse pollution impacts are concerns needing safe and healthy public benefit solutions that biotechnological firms like this one can provide.

By uniting with such a prestigious corporation, one intensely focused upon abatement, reclamation and remediation strategies, this decision is a natural progression and extension of my career, my aspirations and my personal commitment to my community.

My mantra is 21st Century Solutions to 20th Century Water Problems. I'm joining Team Hydrologix® because I profoundly believe that this corporation is composed of a caring and responsible staff that will make a difference for the industry both now and in the future. "
